F. Research Activities:

Major Areas of Research Interest

Developmental Disabilities, Autism Spectrum Disorders, Obesity, Underserved Populations, Health Screening, Systems of Care, Oral health.

Research in Progress

- Autism in Urban Context: Linking Heterogeneity with Health and Service Disparities.
- Autism Treatment Network, developing models of care
- Genotype-phenotype of behaviors observed in children with Rett Syndrome
- Oral health in children with special health care needs
- Motivational interviewing in obesity management
- Implementation of Body Works for obesity prevention in an at-risk community
- Advanced Directives and implementation policies in an educational setting
- Correlation between carotid intima thickening, flow-mediated vasodilation and left ventricular diastolic function in preadolescent obese children
- Characteristics of brown fat in overweight and normal weight children

Ongoing Teaching Grants

1. Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND), T-73MC00008-17 (Baer), DHHS/HRSA/MCHB, LEND Faculty Member, 7/1/2006–6/30/2012

The purpose of this study is to recruit and train annually long-term and short-term disciplines representing culturally, racially and linguistically diverse communities, to meet the LEND competencies in the interdisciplinary, family-centered, culturally competent care of children, with or at risk for neurodevelopmental and related disabilities with special emphasis on ASD. (5%)

Ongoing Administration Grants

1. Administration on Developmental Disabilities ‘CORE’, 90DD0602/03 (Jacobs), DHHS/HRSA/ACF/Administration on Developmental Disabilities, Director of Clinical and Community Services, 7/1/2007– 6/30/2012

To achieve the goals and targeted outcomes of Early Intervention, Special Education, Health/Mental Health, Prevention and Treatment of Abuse Neglect and Victimization, Reducing Racial, Cultural, and Linguistic Disparities in Access to Services, Family Support, Self-Advocacy, Civic Engagement, Parent/Consumer Leadership through four core functions: Pre-Service Training and Continuing Education, Exemplary Clinical and Community Service, Community Education and Information Dissemination, and Research, Evaluation and Policy. (5%)

Ongoing Research Grants

1. International Rett Syndrome Foundation, Medical Director, Co-Investigator, 11/2009–Present

Providing interdisciplinary specialty care for children with Rett Syndrome and exploring the genotype and phenotype of behaviors observed in children with Rett Syndrome; examining the correlation of phenotype severity and specific MecP2 mutations in children with Rett Syndrome. (2.5% in-kind)

2. “Outreach to Community Physicians”. Autism Speaks, Autism Treatment Network, Autism Intervention Research Network on Physical Health. Co-Principal Investigator, 6/2011-6/2012

Develop a didactic lecture series provided to community based physicians reviewing autism spectrum disorders, approach and implementation of screening in the office setting and available community based resources. (2.5% in-kind)

3. Autism Speaks, Autism Treatment Network (ATN), Co-Principal Investigator, 3/2011–3/2014

The ATN is the nation's first network of hospitals and physicians dedicated to developing a model of comprehensive medical care for children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders. The ATN is dedicated to developing better ways to identify, manage and treat the physical health conditions of children with autism. ATN sites are committed to developing standards and guidelines for evaluating and treating physical conditions associated with autism, and to sharing these standards with a wide variety of other clinical programs. The ATN is committed to developing standard treatment protocols for physical health conditions based on proven clinical experience and evidence from the registry and related clinical research projects. (15%)

Past Research Grants

1. Autism In Urban Context: Linking Heterogeneity with Health & Service Disparities”, R01 MH089474-01/H43606 (Yin), NIH-NIMH via University of Southern California, Co-Investigator, 9/30/2009–8/31/2011

This is a two-year urban, multi-method ethnographic study that examines the health and service disparities in Autism Spectrum Disorders diagnosis of African American children living in Los Angeles. A combination of urban ethnography and social network analysis follows a cohort of 16 African American children diagnosed with ASDs, their primary caregivers and the practitioners who serve them and documents the children’s pathways to an ASD diagnosis and services.

2. The Health and Obesity: Prevention and Education Project (HOPE), Cypress Funds/Pfizer Medical Education Grant, Content Developer, 5/22/2009-4/22/2010

Curriculum Project which is a multidisciplinary, healthy living counseling curriculum to educate pediatric clinicians in training on how to recognize children who are at risk for obesity and its co-morbidities and how to promote healthy weight among children and their families. The curriculum instructs medical and dental clinicians on the health consequences of childhood obesity and screening techniques to identify children and families at risk, reviews the current evidence for health intervention recommendations, and teaches trainees regarding the theoretical rationale and art of constructive and culturally sensitive weight counseling for behavioral change. Although designed and tailored specifically for and currently available medical and dental trainees, the curriculum is Web-based and will also be made available to currently practicing clinicians across the United States began in winter 2009. This educational tool provides clinicians with the skills necessary to identify and counsel patients who are at risk to promote healthy weight among youth.

Education (HOPE) Curriculum Project--curriculum development. Pediatrics. 124(5):1438-1446.

3. Child Health Works (Jacobs/Poulsen), First Five Los Angeles, Co-Investigator, 2002-2008

Developed and implemented health screening tools for at-risk preschool children attending schools within the Los Angeles Unified School District:

- Implemented the use of autorefractometry for vision screening by school nurses
- Implemented the use of otoacoustic emissions for initial hearing screening by school nurses
- Implemented the calculating of body mass index in the evaluation of preschool children by school nurses
- Participated in the development and implemented health curriculum aims on behavioral modification in the treatment of pediatric obesity.
 - TASTE (Time Attention Small Steps Taste Experience)
 - Nutrition Library for Parents and Teachers of Preschoolers
 - Activity Curriculum for Preschoolers

4. Photographic Screening Tool for Developmental Delay, California Department of Developmental Services, Principal Investigator, 2001-2003

Developed a digital imaging protocol as a screening for genetic dysmorphology in children and adults with suspected developmental delays.

5. Growing Fit: an Approach to Pediatric Weight Management, Riverside Community Health Foundation, Principal Investigator, 2000-2001

Developed a multi-disciplinary approach and curriculum in the treatment of pediatric obesity.

6. Medical Information on mini-CD-rom. California Department of Developmental Services, Consultant, 2000-2001

Developed and implemented an electronic medical record for adults with developmental disabilities contained on a "wallet-sized" compact disc and shared with health care providers

7. Pediatric Case-based learning scenarios on CD-ROM, Private Donation, Children's Hospital Los Angeles, Content consultant, 1999-2000

Participated in the creation of pediatric case based learning scenarios that tracked the user's differential diagnoses and cost of evaluation compared to academic experts in the field.

8. Multimedia Continuing Education Training for Physicians and Dentists in California, California State Developmental Disabilities Council, Content consultant, 1998-2000
Participated in the creation of multimedia based pediatric training scenarios of children with developmental disabilities and considerations for care.

Other Grants

California Act Early Ambassador. United States Centers for Disease Control and Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD). 2012-2013.

Grants in submission:

Promoting an optimal sleep environment for children with ASD. Autism Treatment Network-Autism Intervention Research Network-Physical Health. Principal Investigator. Submitted 1/2012.

Develop a simple, interactive, visual tool for parents and children/adolescents with ASD and sleep disturbance to describe the current sleep environment to their clinician. Using the visual tool as a point of discussion to implement positive sleep hygiene practices:

- o Demonstrate potential problem areas that impede a quiet, dark and comfortable sleep environment.
 - o Provide examples of how the sleep environment can be improved to promote positive sleep hygiene.
 - o Provide a copy of the proposed changes to the family to be used as a reference tool to implement changes in the sleep environment.
- Evaluate the use of the visual tool as an adjunct to improve adherence to sleep hygiene recommendations, and ultimately improved sleep, compared to the traditional practice of providing verbal and written recommendations.
